Two macs...Gasp!

Today is the VIII month the 1st day of the month. The first day begins at evening meaning 20:00 (We will say local time). How is this known? From the Hebrew scriptures there are clues, akin to a logic puzzle, that the month I day 1 for Moses was in the evening as he was asked by the LORD to go look at the moon. He was told it was a new moon for him. Then in two weeks they were to anticipate release from Egypt. Days of the month are equal, and I invite you to examine www.macdukes.com/mac/theWeek.php to see My exhibits explaining My logic puzzle solution.

Frank Walter Steinmeier Vessel for Germany's Future:

I made the point previously that Jesus would be on a torture stake, that while crossed the crossed portion sat against the ground as a foundation and stabilising device for the post. A tree trunk was cut to allow the stake to suspend above, and stable, with a small tail below the cross branches buried in the ground. Turn "the cross" upside down from its artistic representation sticking the top into soil, and that is a torture stake. Torture staking was lost technology. (Hanging evidently was perfected after Judas with constructed gallows. Perhaps even before. Someone can take a better guess than Myself.) Jesus was nailed hands and feet. most likely overlapping, but it is possible that the hands were indeed aloft with feet somehow nailed to promote indecency in addition to a prolonged death by starvation. No one, not even Mary or John was keeping Jesus alive on that stake. With a torture like nailed hands and feet, bleeding out would happen, but not exsanguination from injuries like that, at least, not that quickly. (The nails plugged the hole they created.) This torture stake description adds to the wrongness of the JW's claims of sophisticated understanding of Jesus' death. Passover, when honoured in Jesus' day, might have been switched to the Spring -- and a full moon -- once Babylon had authority to junk, or vanquish the LORD's mercy seat presence, with the Ark of the Covenant when the first temple, the one credited to Solomon, was sacked. Then Passover would have been a time that reflected the pagan state of things adding to Jesus' heart break over Israel. I point out that Love would have never tolerated such a great life be executed under a full moon like some sloppy love story of kisses and moon shadows. Neither would a chasing Pharaoh have had the advantage of a full moon. Anti good troop movement that is.

The celebration of Easter and the marking of the Passover on our modern calendars is of course a practice that goes back to the Catholic Church's influence in unifying the world for at least some kind of one-God-cares-for-all celebration. How long Passover was held at the correct time in observance in Israel is a challenge to ascertain. The correct time being the honouring of escaping Egypt anniversary. There were many things as people they were supposed to continue doing in perpetuity. Paternal houses that took in foreign wives were including what is commonly identified as pagan gods. Which pagan god was actually one of the Ggods as I have indicated, I can't tell you at this time.

Some of that is the requirement incumbent on Me to respect My physical boundary of influence over reading people. Some of that is I also make it a point to respect the knowledge-base of others with the hard work applied to archaeology and antiquities that I have not had much privilege to enjoy. The other is that fornication is a bugger -- booger is politer. But, we both know My use of euphemism preference and booger would be a dysphemism in this case. It isn't possible to just "know" zen information and respect the prayers of the Holy Ones, as I call it to ITZA. A common thing for Me to say during a day is, "ITZA in Jesus name I Am listening."

Without either euphemism or dysphemism "Fornication is," according to My Finger on the Dyke article, "avoiding the real work whilst supplanting that work with working on things that destroy what the real work creates or maintains." That reads like things of little importance being supplanted by a bigger more important endeavour would not create an issue. Well, most people when they need a glass cutter would not use a fire ax but both will cut the glass.

Worship of the LORD and His presence among Israel was to provide a means of having a people that did the work of perfecting Heaven. The Jews -- in the early Hebrew days -- had that office of responsibility. Had Heaven's Ba'al been perfected by them, the Jews would now be ruling the world. The alien resident was always welcome. The alien resident was expected to walk away from their old way of doing and support the Mosaic Law. Solomon was warned about taking many wives, and once a woman had demonstrated she was a Mosaic Law follower, it does become difficult to say every foreign to Jacob through Issac through Abraham born female was a foreign wife.

I have a responsibility to Heaven that is from My corp as a living being. As in, I do all that I do in obedience but I Am continually soul searching for the answers and deeds that agree with My person. That said, holding a genuine Godly office as flesh on earth is not a weird claim in the face of human documentation. After all, the LORD told Moses, 'You will be as a god to Pharaoh.' The OED has listings of -isms that centre around a god promise of the leading organiser. More than anything I Am a God for all Spirit Creation. There is absolutely no risk of a solder in the performance of his duties in any way being My follower if he or she used their genitals as a fucker. This had to be made abundantly clear.

You can share more illustrations of this than I can: But, during WWI the great heart-break of Germany's loss, to Me, was how in their post cards home they stressed being faithful to their sweethearts. They should not be filled with worry it is only (write name here) that I love, and that they were saving themselves for only their girl to marry or wife to return to when the war ended. Germany would have won on that campaign with even only fifty thousand soldiers under My hand. And that was as I say a period, terminal point, at the end of the sentence. Would I love to prove those numbers? You bet!

This victory strategy of zero fornication is what Heaven uses, cut off from the fornication humanity has forced Heaven into. Can a human benefit, only on the zero fornication -- no being a fucker -- ticket.

A fucker is of course a person who used their genitals in a sexual act without being exclusively included with their spouse. It's hard to say threesomes are a no-no but if a dude is legally married to two or more females, how can we deal with that? Most nations don't back bigamy. But, I need to be fair to Arabs that do back polygamist marriages -- under written law. Not: married to one on paper, and keeping the spares in the house. No, a dude could not be married to Me and another anything male or female. The work metaphors excluded. Married to ones job, ha ha.

When the Ten Commandments were written, Spirit creation were in the place of working with flesh, through the LORD to back making that divine law true. (Then there were interruptions until America demonstrated it to be the LORD's land. So America has a very, very, pissed off Christ on their hands. And She is a Marine -- in the Biblical and fleshly sense. Being a slave on no wages jailing a serial killer in this filthy fuck hole has Me easily angered, at them!) Moses elaborated on those Ten Words of God writing out how the law is upheld for people to follow. Heaven's divine beings were in the place of compensating for all the ways people have fornicated since the Ten Commandments were written. People build their own consequences for abusing rituals, Divine things. This is why fire consumed sons of Arron and Eli. When I write the Earth page where did the earth come from, more on the importance of human deeds and interaction with the divine will be illustrated. I wrote in My letter to Putin of April 19 an example of Moses in how his deeds and understanding put him in the place of being chosen at eighty years to do the work he did in Ancient Egypt.

Come Christmas the important change is that God Almighty will be acting under My mantle not the Immanuel that was formed from Jesus death to My conception. So there will be a Heavenly manifestation of Me in God Almighty who can be sure people are in the place of doing all their christly deeds to one another. If that does not read like a Hallmark card, the reason will be made clear in later web articles. This is the point of the non-sequitur seeming title of this letter.

When Heaven holds the One World Government contract, it will be possible for some to come to the understanding that fornication has bad outcomes. Heaven is not saving 200,000,000 million people. By wipe out's end with this contract in Heaven's hand there will be loosely 50,000 of today's human stock on the planet, and we will do a second round of elimination just for fornicators. I can very well end up alone on the planet then. What is available for people to do is the OWG I presented on line. That is it. That is the ritual across the MEGA God Cloud that exists, and that Heaven has no alternative but to back if I Am spearheading that think-tank under contract. But another face for president? that does need to come from Putin.

I will make petition to ITZA between now and Christmas that Putin consider passing that baton to Germany. It does not mean he will. But that comes from the Divine to Putin to offer to another. I think it should be Germany in honour of the loss that mocked Love Link and the implication of no fornication. Clearly soldiers were doing some fornicating, rape is fornication, while, "God is with us" was girdling them. If you can find a way to move Me to a hotel near the Kremlin, we can see how My influence would help Putin's passing the baton or taking the OWG up in earnest for Russia. As if I would allow Germany to be eliminated from inclusion.

If I were to give you one piece of advise for long term success, even after Heaven has its mitts on OWG, quit fornicating! That does sound better than, stop being a fucker. But you are not a rifle toting troop so, I figure I should curb My fucking enthusiasm at dishing fucking advise. Oh, one last thing, when people are pushing aside good 'horse sense' it means they have lost receiving the Heavenly rewards that go with good basic manoeuvring sense. Well, I Am a softy sharing that, aren't I.
