Writing About Anything

What you are investigating is beyond the scope of human existence to present day. The whole world has made it impossible for Me to exist. As in, the existential zeroth law of humanity -- the law of one may never take the life of another -- would now be preserved -- by Russia through you; should you make room for Me in Russia, even, simply because you see value in My abilities and realise there is value in being decent to a US Government slave. Heaven is doing the preserving regardless.

Exalted Excellency the Honourable Mr. Putin President of Russia:

Some mundane business; Yes, Trump is sloppy. He abuses what has value. I will add to that later in this epistle. Israel is after forcing the world to worship it as the source of blessing for preserving humanity on this earth. I might add more related to them in this letter as well. I woke a little after 02:00. I brewed My coffee. I looked at My website. (I work from a local development platform on My laptop, and upload when internet is available.) I made a few tweaks to the index page and read some of My own copy critically looking to edit and revise. I announced to Pentagon surveillance the Israel intelligence. I was interrupted to write you about anything. I understood, from God, your request was, "Have Her write me about anything." I was going to start this letter with an OED searched report on anything.

The watermark is finished. I rotated the Pentagon representation with My logo and fattened the ring. Tada. Satisfaction, for now. (I know I can work some facets into that ring increasing the graphic interest and message.) If I were working in a creative endeavour for a female editor, she would have looked at My previous work and been angry. My own dissatisfaction with the design would have registered to her as God sending a message about her own inequity. She would have been belligerent with Me and some argument diffusing dialogue on My part would have ensued. Male responses are a mixed bag. Generally, a male will just let Me go hang Myself, happy that he let Me go hang Myself. Male responses follow that rule in the way that male communicates that. The greater intelligence of the male; the more interesting the dismissive dialogue. Most males like to hand Me work they think I will fail at. Then I produce what makes them shine among their peers for including Me.

God does not want you tinkering with His destroy the U.S. Government agenda (Evidently, they are going to be even shittier.) I understand His cause. So, I keep enduring, and forgiving Him what I perceived were events that had no Godly direction at all as the events were so against everything I would have understood was from God. My theosophy is; only good comes from God. God needed Me to make the Good happen for Heaven. So who is God? Saint Paul, as resurrected to Heaven, to accomplish His unfinished ministry. Saint Paul was Adam's born again genetics. Saint Paul holds that God place of ministering over Ba'al perfecting judgements I wrote about in an earlier letter. At some point, the interaction of these major figures of Christian history I will develop into a graphic novel web presentation as I have on the LORD page of My website. (The LORD page is unfinished. It is a placeholder format for the graphic novel, cartoon, approach.)

I Am going to take a slight digression into Trump. Back in 2006, or so, the Dr. Phil Show featured a husband and wife. She was a reasonably cute all American blonde, he former Army (as I recall). He held a standard of admirable cleanliness in their home. They were on the show over marriage difficulties that included her leaving her clothes on the floor in a heap when she went in the shower. He expected her to at least not leave them in a wad on the floor as she showered. Hang them on a bathroom hook, or something more respectful. My word is respectful. Dr. Phil used is catch phrase, "Do you want to be right or do you want to be happy." This is a petty issue. You have a pretty wife, and you still get sex left boldly implied but not explicitly stated, furthermore, her leaving her clothes in a pile for those few minutes will not mean your household degrades into squalor, which was the concern.

Dr. Phil is an all American, middle class, beacon of protestantly acceptable advice. (Yes, I conjugated on that one.) What was sicko about his advice? Well, the male -- husband -- was real angry. This means the female gesture was real wrong. Dr. Phil minimised the husband as having irrelevant anger. The female gesture was proof that she was besmirching his headship and marital gifts because he said it was. Dr. Phil glazed over the husband's concerns because he, Phil, is an idiot. The wife, female, was leaving her clothes in a heap on the floor as she was saying the only way she could get away with it, "Oh, all I have are these junky Walmart or Target clothes. You don't take me to Saks Fifth Avenue or Neman Marcus. I should only have to wear these yucky things once. They are not worth washing." Now, she could not say those words. If she said those words then she would have been admitting she was materialistic. Perhaps even, gasp, vain.

So, what is My advise? Husband, go ahead say to the wife, "Honey, you are right we need to get you to Nemans. Don't worry about the money -- I will work extra hours. Then you won't be leaving your clothes on the floor, and you will have the beautiful things." Putin, you and I both know she would end up following the same habit of garment heaping as she has lazy means of confronting issues. It is just that he would now be in that place to help her learn to hang those clothes in some orderly way when she disrobed. What was the thing not discussed? Does she make a fuss over clothes or bedding or other distractors when he is hungry to get it on with her? That wasn't a part of the episode, but we both know the answer is yes.

Trump is like that wife. Only he has acquired the fine material things and to "prove" he is a good evangelical, treats expensive material things like junk. "This only costs money." "These things do not matter." Bullshit! Things and how we treat them matter. Let's watch and see how Trump handles some spiritual gifts in the week to come. Memorial weekend is a good set up for a demonstration. If it hadn't been for the JW's there would have been Divine controls over stuff so valuable things were treated special. (Just like before the turn of the century.) The JW's made room for disregarding the work of the hands. Humans would not be across the board gluttons, and couch potatoes, without them.

Putin, before July 4, 2025, you are welcome to hatch your curiosity housing plan on the, "This has got to be good for Russia -- allowing Her residency -- simply because She is obviously something valuable to the American scheme." After the 4th you would be in that place of being channeled into god/king as described in My last epistle for hosting Me regardless of what you cognitively anticipated.
